How to Choose a Retail Energy Supplier

District residents can choose their electric generation and transmission supplier and their natural gas supplier, while Pepco remains the sole electric distribution company and Washington Gas Light (WGL) remains the sole natural gas distribution company. Before choosing your retail energy supplier, the Public Service Commission of the District of Columbia (Commission) is encouraging consumers to “BE INFORMED.”

How to Choose a Retail Energy Supplier

Choosing a retail energy supplier can be confusing and time consuming. However, if you take the time to research and ask the right questions, you can better understand and navigate the process, and make a choice that best fits your needs (e.g., lowering your rates and bills and/or supporting green energy). The following is a list of steps and tools to help you make an informed decision about choosing a retail energy supplier.

Step 1: Review your current Pepco and WGL bills to determine how much you pay for energy supply and your monthly usage.

Step 2: Check the Commission’s website at dcpssc.org or contact the Office of Consumer Services on 202-626-5120 to obtain a list of approved suppliers to verify that the supplier is licensed and certified by the Commission.

Step 3: Check price offerings and contact information for each licensed supplier serving the District from the Commission’s website and check the website of any supplier you are considering.

Step 4: Use the Commission’s bill calculator to compare price offerings between your current supplier and other retail suppliers to determine potential savings.

People Selecting & Choosing!

Step 5: Ask the right questions to learn about each supplier's terms and conditions. The Commission has compiled a list of "Frequently Asked Questions" consumers should ask when choosing a retail energy supplier.

Questions for Electric & Natural Gas Retail Suppliers

- Do I have to sign a contract? If yes, what are the terms and conditions of your contract?
- Does the price vary month to month?
- If the price is fixed, for how long?
- Is there a minimum charge?
- What kind of billing and payment options are available?
- Is there a penalty for switching suppliers before the end of the contract? If yes, how much is the fee?
- How will I be billed? Separately by the supplier, by Pepco, or by WGL?

Useful Information

CCF: A unit of measurement for the amount of gas used. One CCF = 100 cubic feet.

Therm (TH): A measure of the energy in natural gas, equal to the amount of gas (in CCFs) times a heat content factor.

Distribution charge: Covers the monthly cost of transporting your gas through our pipes and storage tanks to your meter. The charge is based on the amount of gas used.

Customer charge: Covers certain other costs of providing your service, including depreciation of equipment, taxes, maintenance and repair of customer lines, and expenses such as meter reading and billing.

PGC (Purchased Gas Charge): The cost of the natural gas we buy, plus the cost of transporting it to our system.
